Be Part of the Only Event that Unites Women Leaders in Life Sciences Law for Candid Discussion, Valuable Collaboration and Meaningful Networking.

The Life Sciences industry is perpetually evolving, and the role of women in this space continues to evolve with it. Women in life sciences are gaining more and more recognition for their achievements with each passing year, and while this is certainly something to celebrate, the need to continue to work together to retain this momentum is paramount.

ACI's Women Leaders in Life Sciences Law conference brings together over 200 female attorneys and executives from the biotech, medical device and pharmaceutical industries, and provides an open forum to discuss the latest legal developments impacting the field, as well as meaningful opportunities to devise strategies for professional development, career advancement, mentoring and woman-to-woman networking.

This year, our esteemed faculty of remarkable female leaders will examine what the current election could mean for the future of women in life sciences, and will also tackle the question of how to reign in drug prices without compromising innovation. Attendees will receive real-life, practical tools for self-marketing as a woman, overcoming gendered perceptions in the workplace, boardroom and courtroom, and devising a 5-year plan for continued success that is right for you. This year's event will also include focused discussions surrounding how companies can better support and retain their strong female talent.

This conference provides the perfect opportunity to step away from the demands of your day and thoughtfully consider your career plan amongst a group of exceptional women. I hope you will join this outstanding community of today's and tomorrow's female life sciences leaders.

We look forward to seeing you virtually this November!

Register today by calling us at 888-224-2480 or visit us online at AmericanConference.com/LSWomen.

Who Are We?

This conference brings together in house and private practice professionals from the Biotechnology, Medical Device and Pharmaceutical industries, well-versed in patents, IP, fraud and abuse compliance/enforcement, products liability, regulatory, M&A, and transactional law, and more providing a most conducive setting for networking and career development between female legal, business, and compliance professionals.

Our Mission

ACI's Women in Series aims to promote diversity and increase the prominence of women in the legal community through substantive legal discussion, professional development, and woman-to-woman networking. Our conferences provide industry specific forums for female powerbrokers to unite and discuss the latest legal developments, challenges and opportunities facing women in their respective industries as well as provide them with the business contacts and communication and leadership skills necessary for continued success and career advancement.

Communication

- Techniques for communicating in a way that projects your competence and potential as a leader
- Learning to voice your vision confidently across all levels of your organization so that your ideas are heard, your value is clear and your opinions are remembered
- Building your brand: identifying and communicating your core narratives to share your strengths, passions, values and goals
- Learn to communicate up and down the ladder, and effectively move plans and projects forward

Negotiation

- Tools for becoming a more confident, savvy and successful negotiator
- Positioning your message and asking the right questions to get to “yes” when advocating for your company and your self
- Learning to ask for what you want in ways that feel comfortable and work best for women
- Learning how to make the ask and learning how to accept “no” if that’s the answer

Management

- Delivering feedback and coaching your team constructively and positively
- Concrete tips for earning authoritative respect amongst your peers, direct reports and senior leadership
- Managing difficult people and difficult communications situations
- Increasing your visibility within your organization and making sure your contributions and achievements are known

“This is one of the most meaningful conferences I have attended. Not only is it informative and insightful, it is about creating connections, inspiration and motivation to grow both personally and professionally through shared experiences! To be a part of this event is so rewarding and such an honor.”

Kellie Branson Combs
Partner
Ropes & Gray LLP

To be true industry leaders, women need to stay on the competitive edge by having the big picture view of the most cutting-edge legal and business developments in the fast-moving life sciences space. Broken down by practice area, including IP, Products Liability and Compliance, this panel will discuss the latest court decisions, legislative developments, enforcement initiatives and business developments that have impacted the various disciplines of the life sciences industry and which will ultimately set the stage for 2021 and beyond.

10:00

Politics, Policy and Projections: What Does the Current Election Climate Mean for Women and Life Sciences?

Ayesha Ahmed
General Counsel and
VP of HR
Nexus Pharmaceuticals

Jeny Maier
Partner
Axinn, Veltrop &
Harkrider LLP

Kathleen Gersh
Senior Counsel
Loeb & Loeb LLP

Given the current election climate, questions abound as to how the future of U.S. leadership will impact the life sciences industry – and the future of women in general. This panel will examine both sides of the coin and explore what the future of women in life sciences will look like with four more years of the current administration vs. a new administration.

- Gauging the current political landscape and its effect on the life sciences industry
- Assessing how current life sciences policies are currently affecting women

- Taking a look at leadership and policy changes that have occurred in the last four years under the current administration and their impact and consequences for the life sciences space
- Projections on how potential changes in administration and government agency leadership (e.g. at the FDA, OIG, Attorney General's Office) may affect policies impacting life sciences moving forward

Mastering the Art of "Tooting Your Own Horn": Valuable Tools for Self-Marketing as a Woman in the Life Sciences Industry and Being Your Own Best Advocate

Kristen Buteau
Partner
Choate Hall &
Stewart LLP

Joy Liu
Deputy General Counsel
Vertex Pharmaceuticals

Stacie L. Ropka, PhD
Partner
Axinn, Veltrop & Harkrider LLP

For many women, self-marketing and self-advocacy can be a challenge. This is because women often underplay the value of what they bring to the table for fear that they will seem boastful or "unbecoming." In today's fast-paced, dog-eat-dog world of business however, bragging can sometimes be a necessity to advancement, and an art that can be mastered. This esteemed group of industry leaders will:

- Discuss tactics and approaches to use when self-marketing and self-promoting
- Engage in a mock-interview to demonstrate tools for self-marketing during the interview process
- Provide tactical tools for marketing yourself on social media, LinkedIn, etc.
- Outline specific approaches and examples of what to do and say when seeking a raise or a promotion

Increasing Our Focus on the “Inclusion” Piece of D&I: Understanding How We Can Better Include, Support and Retain Our Female Talent in the Life Sciences Industry

 Monique Hunt McWilliams
Assistant General Counsel
Eli Lilly and Company

 Kristel Schorr
Partner
Foley and Lardner LLP

 Liisa Nogelo-Kerr
Chief Legal Officer
Surface Oncology Inc.

Statistics indicate that while men and women enter the life sciences industry in roughly equal numbers, a gender gap emerges at more senior career levels with women filling a significantly smaller percentage of top-level positions. Although law firms and life sciences companies are currently taking more initiatives aimed at increasing diversity in the workplace, it is important to understand the reasons why more women are not rising into the top echelons of leadership in the life sciences legal space, why so many senior female attorneys are leaving their positions and how we can better retain our female talent.

- Gaining an understanding of the reasons why senior female attorneys are frequently walking out the door
- Identifying the hurdles and hindrances that women are facing which inhibit the advancement of their careers
- Addressing how companies and firms can better create a collaborative, inclusive, supportive and respectful work environment that allows women to thrive and retain or advance their positions
- Giving women crucial tools they can use to be successful and keep their careers moving forward
- Advocating for yourself and getting the credit you deserve for your contributions and achievements
- Techniques for increasing awareness of exceptional work done by women at your company
- What are law firms and companies currently doing to advance women into the top echelons of leadership? What is actually working and where is innovation needed?

“This conference is one of the few events I have attended that is focused on women helping women with real-life, practical tips on how to make a significant impact on your career. Many of the speakers are willing to share stories not just of success, but stories of adversity and how to turn those situations around into successful ones. I block my calendar early, so I can be sure to attend each year.”

When women encounter opportunities to really demonstrate their leadership abilities and competence, such as in a meeting or in front of a jury, they can oftentimes be hindered by biased perceptions which ultimately affect their confidence and hinder a successful outcome. This panel will share personal strategies for overcoming gendered perceptions and winning at work and in the courtroom while still being our authentic selves.

- Developing strategies for overcoming gendered meeting dynamics
  - » Combatting the “piling on” technique
  - » Responding to instances of “idea theft”
  - » Garnering attention and making yourself heard
- Devising tactics for fighting against workplace double-standards that hold women back
- Analyzing the different presentation styles of female advocates in the courtroom
  - » How do juries receive, perceive and respond to female advocates?
  - » What types of behavior, speech or presentation styles are received more favorably?
  - » Managing concerns about acting “too abrasive” vs. “too soft”
  - » Being authentic and retaining your own identity while being a successful female advocate

Incyte

Dr. Melissa Pittaoulis
Associate Director
NERA Economic Consulting

Even in these politically diverse times, most will agree that our president and Congress should prioritize lowering the costs of prescription drugs.

However, a major challenge lies in ensuring that any implemented policy actually reins in costs without constraining medical innovation that saves and improves lives. This panel of leading women executives will attack this puzzle from different angles and shed insights on potential steps forward.

- Understanding the nuts and bolts of why companies are pricing products the way they are
- Revisiting the idea of Hatch-Waxman and BPCIA Reform: discussing the pros and cons
- Examining the rising trend in Value-Based Pricing of products as an alternative to the price-per-dose approach
  - » Exploring the use of outcomes-based pricing, indication-based pricing, drug licensing and money back guarantees
- Exploring the latest initiatives to (i) encourage competition among generic drug manufacturers, (ii) introduce transparency to the drug-distribution system, and (iii) target global pricing to spread the burden more evenly around the world
- Examining the roadblocks (or perceived roadblocks) to effectively controlling drug prices
- Outlook for 2020 and beyond: How will the manufacturers, payers and regulators need to closely coordinate to fix this problem?

Tools for Building and Maintaining A Robust Compliance Program

 Eve Costopoulos
Of Counsel
Loeb & Loeb LLP

 Brooke Nelson
Executive Director, Worldwide Compliance
Amgen

The life sciences industry faces several regulatory and compliance challenges which pose a constant threat to operations and sustainability. Companies that can effectively manage these concerns can take a more proactive stance on risk, adhere to evolving regulatory standards and ultimately develop a competitive advantage. This panel will discuss industry trends and insights surrounding regulation and compliance, and highlight key takeaways that life sciences companies should consider as they implement controls that promote compliance and deter bribery, fraud and corruption.

- Identifying areas of heightened scrutiny by regulators
- Steps for establishing a strong compliance program
- Ensuring that you have the right written policies and procedures in place, and recruiting and building the best compliance team
- Engaging in formal compliance training and education programs
- Anticipating and preparing for investigations
- Implementing strong risk assessment and monitoring protocols
- Responding to detected offenses and developing corrective lines of action

4:00 End of Conference Wrap-Up: Champagne Toast and Takeaways

 Tamara Joseph
Chief Legal Officer
Millendo Therapeutics

 Robin Walker
Senior Vice President, Chief Legal Officer
Stoke Therapeutics

As we wrap up the event, the conference co-chairs will share insights on key takeaways from the last two days. As we say cheers to a great event and celebrate one another with a glass of bubbly, attendees will discuss what they found most valuable from the event, and opportunities and action points to implement after the event. Each table will then choose a representative to report their takeaways to the group as a whole.

4:30 Conference Ends

Re-imagining the way we deliver conferences

As the current global situation continues to unfold, we understand that it may not be possible to attend our events in person.

At the same time, we also understand that collaboration is more vital than ever and for that, you can still rely on ACI to bring the industry together but in a different way. We are transforming quickly to ensure you can now connect virtually and continue to gain unparalleled access to market leading intelligence and to the facilitation of a global exchange of expertise.

Our new virtual events continue to be guided by our unifying philosophy: we believe that growth and success occurs when the power of people and the power of information come together. We may not be able to gather in person, but nothing stops connection and innovation.

What you can expect at a virtual conference

Our virtual conferences are the same conferences you have come to expect in person but transformed to a virtual format. The new virtual conference delivers the same access to a community of industry leaders we have spent decades building and nurturing. We invite you to be part of this community.

Immerse yourself in live presentations, panel discussions, specialized breakout sessions and networking opportunities.

Engage in meaningful dialogue with attendees and speakers in an interactive format.

Meet 1-on-1 with attendees you select and exchange contact information for lasting connections and true engagement.

Expand your network to a global audience.

Visit solution providers and learn about the latest technologies, services and products.

Eliminate the costs and stress of travel.

Reduce waste and carbon footprint through this environmentally friendly platform.
